Barclays panel success and LLP status for Taylor Walton

Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire firm Taylor Walton, has been successful in seeking reappointment to Barclays Bank's Lending and Finance advisory panel after a rigorous review. The achievement coincided with the announcement of the firm's conversion to Limited Liability Partnership (LLP) status. The head of Taylor Walton's Corporate team Jeremy Brockis comments:

"Barclays has undertaken an extensive review of its UK law firm relationships to support its increasingly diverse needs. We work very closely with Barclays to understand and meet its needs, and are delighted that our relationship continues from strength to strength."

The firm's change to LLP status on 1 July continues its forward momentum in the fast-changing legal sector. Says managing partner Dermot Carey:

"We are certain that this progressive move will prove very positive for our clients. We are committed to attracting and retaining talented professionals and strive for continuous improvement in delivering our advice."
