deals

The corporate & commercial teams have the expertise to get successful business deals done.

In the heat of a business sale or purchase our deep resources and negotiating experience put a strong legal ally in your corner to get the best deal. Specialists in key areas including banking & securities get under the skin of transactions to ensure your ambitions are met, to your deadline.

If you are not looking to acquire or exit, but looking to reorganise your business structure or establish trading agreements, we have many years of experience in building robust foundations for success.

We act for businesses across many industry sectors from fast growing start-ups to FTSE 100 companies.

Teamwork is essential if business lawyers are to provide best value. We thrive on deal planning and other legal strategy with a client's executive team, accountants, and funders. We appreciate that law is an important instrument, but is best heard as part of a full business orchestra.

Your deals and projects may need a variety of expertise. Together with our property, employment, litigation and other in-house experts we ensure that your business objectives are clearly understood and then assemble a specialist team to keep transactions on track.

experts

Each business transaction has distinct characteristics. Corporate finance, outsourcing, intellectual property and data protection are just a few examples where we offer a specialist view. Our sector experience can also be invaluable, including information technology, telecoms and construction. Fee rates are highly competitive.

risk & reward

Our due diligence experts quickly identify business risk on any project. We then create contracts designed to both reward your commercial acumen and to provide strong remedies if things don't go to plan.

doing business

A simple philosophy drives us. We're here to help you close your deals and get your business done.

"We often need a fast response to meet the pace of our growth. We have confidence that complex issues are addressed head on, and our deadlines are met." Gordon Hurst, Director, Capita Group plc
